Our faith...our families...our call!

Join us for inspiring and informative presentations to help you on your journey.

Our guest speaker Amy Kalscheur graduated from Marian College in 1995 with a BA in Elementary Education and Mild Disabilities. After teaching in public schools for 2 years, Amy and her husband, Michael, decided that when their son was ready for school, they would begin by home schooling instead of the traditional route. Amy and Michael now have eight children, all of whom have been home schooled since birth. Amy has appeared on Faith in Action-Catholic Radio, speaks at home school conferences in the United States and Canada. She is the author of What's My Plan? – The Catholic Homeschool Year Planner and God is Good, All the Time.

10:00 a.m.—Confessions of a Home Schooling Mom presented by Amy Kalscheur. "Is it just me? Am I alone in this?" Amy explains her reasons for home schooling, the mistakes she's made, and the thing that irritates her the most. Through her personal witness, she hopes that you can learn from her experiences and know that you are not alone!

1:00 p.m.—Catholic Home Schooling Works: Pass it on!
This unique panel of RCHAL parents, students, and home school graduates is designed to give parents a glimpse into the lives of several home school families. Join the discussion of those who have answered the call and are living their Catholic faith daily in the wonderful world of home schooling and beyond.

3:00 p.m.—How to Teach "That" Kid presented by Amy Kalscheur. Some children take to school work like a fish takes to water. For others, they might show a complete lack of interest or find the work so difficult that they get discouraged. How do we help them? Come learn some practical suggestions for teaching the difficult learner.

When it comes to education...

there's no school like home!

Free and open to everyone...not just home schooling families!

We love children, but we respectfully ask that only infants attend. Thank you for understanding!
